Acknowledgements

My salutations, to the ancient art and science of yoga that has seeped and shaped our civilization and culture.

Last four years has taught me the real practice behind every yogic practice – patience and passion. While learning to inculcate patience and pursue my passion, there were immense help, advice, constructive feedback, encouragement, support and love from all the people surrounding me.

Foremost, I feel blessed to have Dr. Ravi Kumar Itagi and Prof T M Srinivasan, as my research supervisors whose support, insightfulness and availability all along the way were invaluable. Dr. Ravi Kumar Itagi, infused minute attention to details and scientific rigor throughout the research process. I humbly thank him for his immense patience and generosity in sharing his knowledge and experience. Prof. T M Srinivasan, gave me the limitless confidence to pursue this incredible dream of introducing yoga in the cricket arena in such a meaningful method. In his own unique way, he taught me to find a yogic finesse in all aspects of life that I will always treasure. My wholehearted respect and gratitude to both my research supervisors.

I sincerely thank Dr. R Nagarathna and Guruji Dr. H R Nagendra and Swami Vivekananda Yoga Anusandhana Samsthana (S- VYASA) for instilling endless devotion and passion for seeking and learning in me.

Dr. John Ebnezer, for his advice as an external expert to this study has been invaluable.

My deepest gratitude to Dr. Judu Illavarasu, who has always been there when I needed and in such a wise way. I am, and always will be, immensely grateful for his timely advice, expertise, applied experience and support.

I express honest gratitude and appreciation of the PhD supervisors Dr. Guru Deo, Dr. Meenakshi and Dr. Soubhagyalakshmi. Also, Mr. Venkatesh for his genuine support in providing timely clarity on the PhD guidelines of the S-VYASA, Deemed-to-be University.

This would have been impossible without the kindness of Dr. Karuna Nagarajan, Mr. G K Anil Kumar, Mr. Anil Nagendra and Dr. Sushal Shantakumar who were more than delighted and supportive of this research.

I sincerely thank the Karnataka State Cricket Association (KSCA) for having made this dream come true. I would like to thank Mr. Santosh Menon, for his faith, immeasurable support and appreciation in introducing yoga for the cricket players for the first time ever at KSCA through this research study.

Mr. Sudhakar Rao, for being so generous and welcoming of the research on the cricket players. Being part of KSCA was an amazing experience and an incredible opportunity. My deepest respect and gratitude to all the people at KSCA who have contributed towards making this PhD possible: all of the physios, coaches, cricket players and administration staff who have helped me with so much warmth and affection. All your commitment and care towards the physical, mental and emotional well-being of the players is exceptionally commendable.

I would like to genuinely thank Baroda Cricket Association, Himachal Pradesh Cricket Association, Vidarbha Cricket Association and Kerala Cricket Association for their support in the survey study. I collectively thank all the nineteen experts from the field of yoga, sports medicine, orthopaedics and physiotherapy for their time and expertise in validating the yoga biomechanics module.

The biggest lesson I have learnt over the last four years is that we never accomplish anything alone.

To my parents, family and friends, thank you so much for listening to me, having faith in me, reassuring and constantly supporting me as always. I cannot name all the people who helped me along the way, but I feel extremely lucky and privileged to have you all in my life.

Finally, through these learning years, I have felt the grace and love of God in more ways than one.
